Three Lawyers Named in 2021 Pennsylvania Super Lawyers!

On Behalf of Marzzacco Niven &
Associates | May 25, 2021

Attorney Christopher Marzzacco, owner of Marzzacco Niven & Associates, has again been selected by his peers as a 2021 Super Lawyer. Joining Marzzacco are Attorney Jordan Marzzacco and Attorney Rebecca Bailey, both selected as “Super Lawyer Rising Stars.”

Super Lawyers selects attorneys using a patented multiphase selection process. Peer nominations and evaluations are combined with independent research. Each candidate is evaluated on 12 indicators of peer recognition and professional achievement. Selections are made on an annual, state-by-state basis. The 2021 lists were published recently in Super Lawyers Magazine and on SuperLawyers.com.

Of the selections, Marzzacco said, “To have three of our personal injury lawyers selected by our colleagues speaks volumes about the experience and results we deliver to our injured clients. I am so proud to work with Jordan and Rebecca—two tremendously talented young lawyers that truly share our belief in raising a voice for those who have been injured by others.”

Marzzacco’s law firm helps families of those killed or catastrophically hurt in all types of accidents and incidents throughout Pennsylvania. The firm’s Certified Workers’ Compensation Specialists, Adam Crosier and Jesse Rhodeside, represent injured workers in workers’ compensation claims, while Michelle Rhizor, Tom Meister, Nicole Ridley, and Shreya Tripathi Bhardwaj assist those with disabilities in Social Security matters.

Attorney Christopher Marzzacco has been named in Super Lawyers every year since 2017. Attorney Rebecca Bailey has been named a Super Lawyer Rising Star every year since 2019 and Attorney Jordan Marzzacco made the elite list in 2020 as well.
